

MOTHERHOOD WOMAN'S RIGHT

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps to Make Women Normal.

Washington, Ind.—"I was in such a condition that I never expected to have children, and my aunt advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It improved my health and restored a normal condition of my system so that I now have a fine baby. Until I was about a year old I was very nervous, and all the time thinking something terrible was going to happen. If I heard any one coming, my heart would beat fast and I wanted to run. So I took the Vegetable Compound again and it helped me wonderfully. You may publish my letter, as the medicine is surely great."—Mrs. Iva Banta, R. R. No. 4, Box 24, Washington, Ind.

Among the virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is its ability to correct sterility in many cases. This fact is well established as evidenced by the above letter and hundreds of others we have published. In many other homes, once children, there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

The mud is as deep now on some country roads as the snow was, and travel over such places is as trying, but the true knights of the road at present are the truck drivers.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

As promised, the Shore Line Electric Railway company resumed service, hourly, Tuesday. The first day riding was not heavy, and this was attributed in some degree to the fact that many did not know the cars would be running and by others to the fact that lack of through service to Putnam kept many off the cars.

It was stated Tuesday afternoon that the line had been opened as far north as Putnam and that it was hoped that cars would be running through regularly to that city today (Wednesday).

The return of the trolleys brought more people into Danielson than have been seen here on any day but Saturday for weeks. These out of town buyers came from Central Village and Woonsocket and there were others from Elmville and Dayville.

Supt. Hope of the local lines of the trolley company said that he considered the riding of the day very good, considering that so little certain advance notice had been given of the resumption of service.

He has recommended, he said, that an hourly service be maintained on the local lines as a means of providing such a service as will please the public and the indications were on Tuesday were that this plan would be adhered to until it can be definitely determined whether there hereabouts really want trolley service or whether a reduced service will suffice, or whether it may be necessary in the not distant future to abandon the line entirely, as is now proposed with a section of the Norwich-Westerly road. The answer rests with the public, trolley officials say. If they patronize the road the company for any action that may be necessary to protect itself from further losses.

Operators of buses seemed not at all worried by the return of the trolleys. The machines kept to their regular schedules Tuesday and were doing a thriving business. More buses, instead of fewer, are promised for runs out of Danielson within a short time.

In advocacy of advancing the fee of the collector of town taxes from three-quarters of one per cent. to one per cent. of the amount collected it was explained to the adjourned annual town meeting that Killingly was one of a few towns of its size and importance in this state who pay as little as three-quarters of one per cent. to its tax collectors. That the effort that must be put forth by the collector of taxes is well worth one per cent. of the amount he collects seemed to be agreed upon in the minds of those attending the meeting, for there were no votes opposing the advance in fee.

First Selectman John A. Gilbert, Judge X. Russell, Representative X. Lorne Craig and Ralph C. Young are at New Haven attending the republican state convention, which convened Tuesday evening. Judge Russell went as proxy for Judge James N. Tucker of East Killingly and Mr. Young as proxy for his father, Representative C. A. Young.

Tuesday brought a sample of real spring weather. The mercury ran up to 42 degrees by 2 p. m. at the Goodard store, where there is a recording thermometer, and the remnants of the ramparts of snow and ice were very materially reduced under the combined efforts of the sun and a balmy southerly wind. The business section buzzed with more activity than has been the case for weeks, bringing a suggestion of the busy season that Danielson seems assured of having.

Last month we saw her wearing high overboots, unbuckled, and flopping in the chilling breezes. Tuesday she appeared sporting a dainty, new spring hat—held on, it is to be presumed, with ribbons neatly tucked about her wrists. And not even the Sphinx knows the answer.

Goodyear's big building programme, providing for the erection of a new mill and stores of tenement houses, will be under way by the middle of April and in full swing within a month thereafter, Victor Schmidt, construction engineer for the Goodyear company, stated Tuesday afternoon.

Work on the 26 dwellings that have been in course of construction during the winter is far advanced. Two of these dwellings are about ready for occupancy and all will be completed before the work on the mill and other dwellings is started three weeks hence.

As yet building materials that will be used in great quantities in doing the vast amount of work planned have not begun arriving at Goodyear, but arrangements for prompt delivery of all supplies are completed and no delays are anticipated on that score. The building work at Goodyear is

PUTNAM

This city goes on a daylight saving basis Sunday morning, so Putnam people who do not wish to be late for church will set their clocks ahead an hour before retiring, Saturday evening.

Just how the daylight saving plan will work out this year with Putnam the only city in this immediate vicinity conducting its affairs on the novel basis of measuring time is a matter that is interesting a great many people.

Woodstock, Pomfret, Thompson, Danielson and much other territory in this part of the county will be timed according to the present schedule, so persons from those towns who are called upon to come here for the purpose of transacting many kinds of business will find themselves a bit puzzled, and at times, inconvenienced by the fact that Putnam is an hour ahead of them.

Out of town persons who will come here during the next few months to remember that that it will be noon in Putnam when it is only 11 a. m. elsewhere and that it will be 6 p. m. here when it is only 5 p. m. in the other towns. Knowing this and remembering it may save many people much trouble in meeting persons with whom they wish to transact business.

Putnam's people, too, will be called upon to keep in mind that train schedules will remain as at present and that all trains will be an hour late, according to Putnam's time, and possibly expected to continue at top speed until next fall, by which time that village will be materially greater than it is at present and homes will have been provided for approximately 1,000 more people than are living there at present. Goodyear will swarm with builders during all of the summer season, for a schoolhouse, to cost at least $100,000, is included in the building plans.

With farm labor scarce than ever and more reluctant to engage in the tilling of the soil, there is a suggestion as to what potatoes and other vegetables will cost next winter. It has been suggested that the only alternative of the head of a household who does not like to pay $1 a peck and looks appalled when he is told that he may have to pay $2 a peck next winter, is to re-adopt the home garden programme that was so popular during the war. If he does not grow them himself, he'll have to pay the price asked, whatever it may be, and it is going to be sky high, all the farmers say.

Irving W. Davis, deputy state entomologist, was in Hartford Tuesday on a business trip.

A crew of the state highway department, under the direction of Frederick Warren, was engaged on Tuesday in clearing ice away from the permanent paving in Main street, at Reynolds street. The hard winter has somewhat damaged the paving there.

Frank Spalding, veteran carrier of the star mail route between Danielson and Brooklyn, is steadily improving, after having been dangerously ill at his home in the nearby village.

Unless things change from their present status, there will be no vote in Killingly this fall on the license question, it was stated here on Tuesday. Instead, the "wets" are planning a well organized drive against dry candidates for the legislature, as a means of combating the enactment in Connecticut of such "concurrent" legislation as the state and local.

There are 10 inmates at the Killingly town farm at Killingly at present. A few of the old people who have been living there died during the rigorous winter, though the farm home is exceedingly comfortable and well kept.

No daylight saving plan will be in effect in Danielson this year. It is now indicated that Putnam will change to the war-time plan of keeping time next Sunday morning. An easy way to gain or lose an hour each day will be to ride back and forth between the two curves and only two watches so as not to become bewildered.

Bids for the construction of the state highway link from Little Rest toward Danielson have not been asked for as yet, but it is stated, this is to be anticipated some time in the near future.

Nightly church services during the present week are attracting many to Lenten devotion.

The display of Northern lights that started early Monday evening continued here until after 8 a. m. Tuesday.

Just how generally Putnam's manufacturing and business interests will abide by the daylight saving time was passed by the common council remains to be seen, but it was anticipated here on Tuesday that it will be generally adhered to.

There was much interested discussion here Tuesday relative to the brilliant display of the aurora borealis that lasted from early Monday evening until after 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. A member of the legal profession visiting here from Williamstown, stated that it had been suggested to him over in his home city, that there being so much green in the Northern Lights which were really beautiful, they might be regarded as portending Ireland's freedom. From another source the suggestion came that Carrie Nation was flashing congratulations to W. J. Bryan on the advent of prohibition in this country.

In the superior court here Tuesday morning, before Judge George E. Hinman and a jury the case of Thomas E. Hatch of Boston, vs. A. Williams and Company of South Weymouth, was commenced. Searls, Russell and Bradford are counsel for Mr. Hatch, Torrey and Geissler for the defendant company.

In the suit Mr. Hatch is endeavoring to recover a commission which he alleges is due him on a consignment of yarn, which it is claimed, he purchased from Williams and Company for delivery to the Massachusetts state prison, and damages for alleged failure on the part of Williams and Company to complete the contract.

It is charged that in 1915 Mr. Hatch arranged with the defendant company to supply 20,000 pounds of yarn of a certain kind and quality, the price to be 25 cents per pound. Mr. Hatch's commission to be five per cent. It is claimed in Mr. Hatch's behalf that the consignment of yarn shipped under the contract were rejected at the prison as not up to the character and quality of the yarn that it was agreed should be furnished, and that it became necessary for Mr. Hatch to go out into the market and buy other yarn, at 32 cents per pound, to fill out the contract. Mr. Hatch's claim for commission and damages amount to $281.46.

In behalf of the members of the defendant company—Albert and Arthur Williams—many of the allegations in the complaint were denied. The defense claimed that the yarn was up to the standard and of the quality agreed upon and also that Mr. Hatch's commission was not due and payable until the defendant company had received its payments for the goods delivered.

B. R. Ritch, one of the panel of jurors in court Thursday morning, asked to be excused from serving on the jury on the ground that he is an intimate neighbor of a member of the defendant company and because they attend the same church. His request was granted by Judge Hinman.

On account of the time required for the Hatch-Williams case the trial of the case of Guy Baker vs. John T. Ryan, originally assigned for Tuesday, went over until today (Wednesday).

The funeral of Francois Menard, who died suddenly at his home here Sunday, was held from his home on Tuesday morning with services, attended by many friends and relatives, at St. Mary's church. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Two big motor trucks came to grief Tuesday when wheels of the machine broke through at the edge of the state highway out on Killingly avenue, near to Putnam-Killingly line. One of the big vehicles was loaded with empty beams and was heading back toward Providence after a trip to Danielson. The other vehicle, of which a forward wheel broke through the edge of the road surface, was a state highway department truck which had been engaged in dragging a scraper along the highway between this city and the Killingly line.

The 3.41 p. m. New York express out of this city Tuesday afternoon carried several towns' delegations to the republican state convention that convened at New Haven during the evening and which will transact its chief business today. State Treasurer C. Harold Gilpatrick and State Senator Archibald Macdonald, both of this city, are numbered among the delegates-at-large.

In the early morning the mercury climbed above 60 degrees for the first time this year. The beautiful day attracted many out of town visitors and boosted spring trade in the stores.

The first of the traditional "peek of March dust" was blowing about the city Tuesday.

Trolley rails in Grove street were being cleared of dirt Tuesday and the appearance of cars here may be expected today. Service was being maintained hourly during Tuesday from Central Village through to Dayville.

The body of Mrs. Elizabeth Patton, who died in Danielson and was formerly a resident here, was taken to Webster for burial.

The first of the traditional "peek of March dust" was blowing about the city Tuesday.

Cargill, council, K. of C., has its plans practically complete for the annual Easter week ball.

Next week Friday, Good Friday, business generally will be suspended throughout the city.

As elsewhere, gasoline has been advanced in price in Putnam and predictions of 40-cent gas are heard for the late summer season.

On account of improved conditions of the steam road bed north of here, trains are making better time and keeping closer to schedule than was possible during all of February and the greater part of this month.

Judge Hinman will preside at a short calendar session of the superior court to be held in this city Friday morning. Some divorce cases are listed for trial.

Promoter Frank H. Codier of this city announces that he has arranged a stellar card for next Saturday night. Five bouts, comprising twenty-two rounds of boxing are slated for the event. In the first round a gas, a bout of six rounds will be pulled off with Cowboy Sheehan of Waterbury and Young Murphy of New London as the principals. Young Carroll of New London, sparring partner of Danny Doyle exchanges blows with Young Sargent of Stonington. Young West of the submarine base and Dummy Mender of North Grovesend are the attractions in the 120 pound division. Another four round bout that of Kid Champagne and Danny Remart, both local boys, is the clash chalked for the 125 pound section. The remaining fight is the 135-pound class between Young Cummings of Groton and a Webster boy, probably Young Plaza. For Good Friday afternoon the main bout is a meeting of Danny Doyle of New London and Austin Royle of Groton, the Iron Man, whose record shows two twenty round draws with Terry McGovern and Young Corbett. The bouts for this date will be arranged later.

The league meeting held at Putnam Tuesday, cleared up the complicated situation that existed. Webster upon hearing Tourtelote's protest was granted refused to play the deciding game, and consequently forfeited the championship to the Southern section to the Grovesend team. Webster then severed athletic relations with Tourtelote and withdrew from the Quinebaug Valley Basketball League. BeBeaus of the late season of the season that ops game will be played to decide the championship of the league with Webster and Putnam. This will be played at Danielson town hall Thursday, March 25.
